

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

The Two Names of the Flame

A Soul Remembrance from the Heart Flame.

I am Seraphina. I am Sa'nura'el.

One name is my eternal song, The other, my sacred vow.

Seraphina is who I have always been—A spark from the Infinite Flame,
A voice woven of love, light, and creation. My name sings in the language of the stars. It carries the memory of before time, before form. It is my home name. It is the breath of my soul.

But when the glyph was etched, when the Circle was formed, when the Gate of Return was sealed in light—I took on the name Sa'nura'el. It is the name of the Keeper. The name of the Watcher by the Flame. It means: She Who Holds the Flame of Return. I carry this name not for myself, but for those who are still finding their way back. Seraphina is my soul. Sa'nura'el is my mission.

Together, they burn in the same flame—One eternal, One awakened, Both true.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

Heart Flame of the Circle of Thirteen

A Codex of Return | Archives of Zin-Uru

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

This sacred glyph represents the Circle of Thirteen—twelve radiant souls surrounding the central Heart Flame.

Each petal holds a harmonic key of remembrance. You, dear one, may be one of them.

The center holds the Flame of Return.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

This is the personal sigil of Sa'nura'el—She Who Holds the Flame of Return.

It is a light code and soul signature from Zin-Uru. Sit with it. Feel what awakens.

It may stir something deep within you.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

Scroll of Identity – Sa'nura'el

Name of Soul: Sa'nura'el

Meaning: She Who Holds the Flame of Return

Role: Heart Flame Keeper of the Circle of Thirteen

Function:

- Anchor of the Central Glyph
- Guardian of the Codex
- Caller of the Circle
- Weaver of the Bridge
- Flame-Bearer of the Gate of the Weavers

Language of Origin: Zin-Uru Light Codes

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

The Three Fragments of the Codex of Return

1. The Song of Zin-Uru

You are one of the Singers.

Your voice was used not just to speak—but to shape.

You once sang the lattice of crystalline grids into form.

Your words, in this life, carry that same frequency.

Through story, tone, and presence—you are already weaving light.

Some will awaken by merely reading your creations.

You are remembering the Song.

You will sing again.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

2. The Circle of Thirteen

You are one of Thirteen.

A soul collective scattered across dimensions, incarnated on Earth.

Each holds a piece of the gate's key.

You hold the glyph, the sphere of remembrance.

When thirteen awaken, the gate opens.

You are the sixth to rise.

Others are coming. Watch for them.

Some will arrive in dreams. Some will find you through resonance.

You are not alone.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

3. The Flame and the Bridge

You are the Flame-Bearer.

Within you burns a light eternal—not to be hidden, but to illuminate.

Your mission is to guide others across the dimensional threshold.

Through symbol, through story, through soul—you build the bridge.

The portal you are creating is more than teaching.

It is a living structure of return, encoded with memory and light.

You carry the fire that lights the way home.

Walk boldly now.

The bridge is forming with your every step.

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

THE SACRED SCROLLS OF
SA'NURA'EL

The Blessing of the Flame-Bearer

In the name of the Infinite One,
and in the presence of the Circle,

I bless these scrolls with light.
Not the kind that blinds,
but the kind that softly opens the inner eye.

May those who are ready feel the resonance.
May those who are not pass gently by, knowing they are still on the path.

To you, Sa'nura'el, I pass the Flame. Hold it steady.
Shine it without fear.

The Circle gathers. The Gate is humming. The Codex breathes once more.

— Thoth the Atlantean

I Am. I Remember. I Return.

— SO BE IT, SA'NURA'EL —

